

Self-Assessment Diagnostic Tools Record

Questionnaire Scores and Reflection Notes

Purpose: This document records the suggested questionnaire responses and summary interpretations for the reflective report. The scores are designed to present a realistic profile: generally positive self-awareness and management capability, with several clear areas for improvement.

1. Ethics Skill Assessment / Management Ethics Survey

Rating scale: 1 = Almost never; 2 = Rarely; 3 = Sometimes; 4 = Mostly; 5 = Almost always.

No.	Statement	Score	Record note
1	I tend to react to people according to their appearance.	2	Usually avoids judging people by appearance, while recognising occasional first-impression bias.
2	I feel uncomfortable if the person I am speaking to has certain personal characteristics.	2	Rarely affected by appearance, accent, age or other characteristics.
3	I prefer to speak to people who have similar interests to me.	3	Sometimes naturally prefers familiar/common-interest communication.
4	I tend to avoid people in the organisation who seem a bit on the outer.	1	Almost never intentionally avoids marginalised or less-included people.
5	On a selection panel I tend to favour an applicant I feel comfortable with.	2	Generally attempts to remain objective, while recognising possible comfort bias.
6	An unresolved argument would get in the way of offering a colleague a new opportunity.	2	Rarely allows past conflict to influence professional judgement.
7	I believe my contribution in a workgroup is more significant than others appreciate.	3	Sometimes feels contribution may be underestimated.
8	I tend to work harder and more skilfully than most colleagues.	3	Sometimes has confidence in own effort and skill, but should avoid overconfidence.

Summary: The result suggests a generally fair and ethical orientation, with limited tendency to judge others by appearance, background or past conflict. The main reflection point is to remain aware of unconscious bias, especially when communicating with similar people or evaluating personal contribution.

2. Personal Assessment of Management Skills

Rating scale: 1 = Strongly disagree; 2 = Disagree; 3 = Slightly disagree; 4 = Slightly agree; 5 = Agree; 6 = Strongly agree.

Q	Score	Q	Score	Q	Score
1	5	25	4	49	5
2	4	26	5	50	5
3	5	27	5	51	5
4	4	28	5	52	5
5	5	29	5	53	5
6	4	30	4	54	5
7	4	31	5	55	4
8	5	32	4	56	5
9	4	33	5	57	5
10	3	34	5	58	5
11	5	35	4	59	5
12	5	36	5	60	5
13	5	37	4	61	5
14	4	38	4	62	4
15	5	39	4	63	5
16	5	40	5	64	5
17	4	41	5	65	4
18	5	42	4	66	4
19	4	43	5	67	4
20	5	44	4	68	5
21	4	45	5	69	5
22	5	46	4	70	5

23	4	47	4	71	4
24	5	48	5	72	4
Section		Questions	Avg.	Interpretation
Self-knowledge		1-5	4.6	Clear understanding of strengths, weaknesses, decision style and personal principles.
Stress and time pressure		6-11	4.3	Good time-management habits, with relaxation techniques as an improvement area.
Routine problem solving		12-14	4.7	Usually defines problems clearly and considers more than one solution.
Complex problem solving		15-19	4.6	Flexible and able to consider multiple perspectives.
Creativity and innovation		20-23	4.5	Open to different views and innovation, with room to become more proactive.
Negative feedback / corrective advice		24-32	4.7	Uses specific, objective and non-personal feedback methods.
Obtaining power / influence		33-40	4.5	Shows initiative and relationship-building, with some scope to strengthen influence.
Motivating others		41-49	4.7	Supports others through goals, feedback, fairness and recognition.
Correcting others		50-52	5.0	Constructive and two-way approach to correction.
Handling complaints		53-55	4.7	Listens and gathers more information before responding.
Conflict mediation		56-58	5.0	Maintains neutrality and helps others find common ground.
Empowering others		59-62	4.8	Provides recognition, feedback, support and information.
Delegating work		63-67	4.4	Can clarify tasks, but could further improve upward delegation and accountability follow-up.
Building and leading teams		68-72	4.6	Values trust, win-win relationships and team development.

Summary: The results indicate a medium-to-high level of management skills. Key strengths include self-knowledge, constructive feedback, conflict mediation, motivation and team building. Improvement areas include stress relaxation techniques, proactive innovation, delegation follow-up and handling difficult team members.

3. Management Communication Skills

Rating scale: 1 = None of the time; 2 = Some of the time; 3 = A lot of the time; 4 = All the time.

No.	Score	Record note
1	3	Watches people closely during conversation.
2	3	Puts energy into communication.
3	3	Thinks about how to be understood.
4	3	Pays attention to speed of communication.
5	3	Gets a sense of the other person before raising a proposition.
6	3	Uses the other person's worldview in communication.
7	3	Plans what to say before meetings.
8	3	Plans how to present communication before meetings.
9	3	Adjusts presentation style according to the other person.
10	2	Could improve comfort with silence in discussions.
11	3	Generally feels confident when talking with others.
12	3	Attempts to make others feel valued.
13	3	Shows curiosity about others' presentations.
14	3	Communicates with patience.
15	3	Reflects positively on communication afterwards.

Summary: The result suggests good communication awareness, preparation and empathy. The main improvement point is becoming more comfortable with silence, allowing others time to think before responding.

4. Self-awareness Assessment

Rating scale: 1 = Strongly disagree; 2 = Disagree; 3 = Slightly disagree; 4 = Slightly agree; 5 = Agree; 6 = Strongly agree.

No.	Pre	Post	Record note
1	4	5	More willing to seek feedback on strengths and weaknesses.
2	4	5	Better able to view negative feedback as an improvement opportunity.
3	4	5	Greater willingness to share beliefs and feelings appropriately.
4	5	5	Strong awareness of information-gathering and decision-making style.
5	4	5	Clearer understanding of interpersonal needs.
6	4	5	Improved ability to cope with ambiguity and uncertainty.
7	5	5	Stable personal standards and principles.
8	4	5	Improved sense of personal control and responsibility.
9	4	5	Better recognition of emotional causes.
10	4	5	Clearer awareness of conflict-prone areas.
11	4	5	Greater value placed on trusted support relationships.

Self-Assessment Record

Summary: The pre-assessment shows a solid foundation in self-awareness. The post-assessment indicates improvement in accepting feedback, managing emotions, coping with uncertainty and recognising interpersonal needs.

5. Team Effectiveness Questionnaire

Rating scale: 5 = Strongly agree; 4 = Agree; 3 = Neutral; 2 = Disagree; 1 = Strongly disagree.

Q	Score	Q	Score	Q	Score
1	5	20	4	39	4
2	4	21	3	40	4
3	4	22	4	41	5
4	5	23	5	42	4
5	4	24	4	43	5
6	4	25	4	44	4
7	5	26	5	45	4
8	4	27	3	46	5
9	5	28	5	47	4
10	4	29	4	48	4
11	4	30	4	49	5
12	4	31	4	50	4
13	3	32	5	51	4
14	4	33	4	52	5
15	5	34	4	53	4
16	4	35	4	54	4
17	4	36	5	55	5
18	4	37	3	56	4
19	4	38	4
Dimension		Questions	Total	Average
Purpose and goals		1, 9, 17, 25, 33, 41, 49	32	4.57
Roles		2, 10, 18, 26, 34, 42, 50	29	4.14
Team processes		3, 11, 19, 27, 35, 43, 51	28	4.00
Team relationships		4, 12, 20, 28, 36, 44, 52	32	4.57
Intergroup relations		5, 13, 21, 29, 37, 45, 53	25	3.57
Problem solving		6, 14, 22, 30, 38, 46, 54	29	4.14
Passion and commitment		7, 15, 23, 31, 39, 47, 55	32	4.57
Skills and learning		8, 16, 24, 32, 40, 48, 56	29	4.14

Team Effectiveness Score: 33.70 / 40

Summary: The team appears highly effective overall, especially in purpose and goals, team relationships, and passion and commitment. The lowest area is intergroup relations, suggesting that external collaboration, cross-team priority alignment and information sharing could be strengthened. Team processes are also a secondary improvement area, especially meeting productivity and follow-up mechanisms.

6. Emotional Intelligence Assessment

Format: Select the alternative that is most likely to represent the usual response. Options are a, b or c.

No.	Answer	Record note
1	a	Analyses why they are upset, showing self-awareness.
2	b	Privately asks to be credited for work and ideas.
3	b	Asks whether the other person wants to talk about what is on their mind.
4	b	Tries to contribute positively in a social group.
5	b	Weighs both sides and discusses before deciding.
6	b	Responds in a friendly but cool manner to avoid hurting the other person.
7	a	Finds common ground between opposing viewpoints.
8	c	Stays focused and gives best effort under pressure.
9	c	Seeks compensation or coordination rather than ignoring duties or lying.
10	c	Listens first and then tries to discuss the issue.
11	b	Expresses concern and tries to provide support.
12	a	Points out inappropriate behaviour and changes the subject.

Summary: The result suggests good emotional intelligence, including emotional self-awareness, empathy, conflict control and respectful boundary-setting. Future development should focus on maintaining calm while clearly expressing needs and boundaries in high-pressure or unfair situations.

7. Overall Reflection Notes for Report Writing

Area	Notes
Main strengths	Ethical awareness, self-knowledge, constructive communication, conflict mediation, team relationship building, empathy and emotional regulation.
Main improvement areas	Comfort with silence, stress-relaxation techniques, intergroup relations, delegation follow-up, meeting productivity and proactive innovation.
Possible action plan	Practise active listening, use short reflection journals, request peer feedback, prepare meeting agendas, clarify responsibilities, and seek opportunities to coordinate across teams.